

The Center for Art in Wood
formerly the Wood Turning Center

July 7, 2011

Dear Friends, Members and Supporters:

The Board of Trustees and staff want to thank all of those who have supported the Center's move and renovation of the new space at 141 N. 3rd Street, Philadelphia, PA. Without your generosity, none of this would be possible. I also wanted to tell you about a very special 25th anniversary – the Center's – and the incredible things which are happening and which we invite you to be a part of:

- We have officially changed our name to the Center for Art in Wood, formerly the Wood Turning Center, to reflect the broad scope of work and artists we have exhibited, studied and collected over the years;
- Demolition and construction are occurring at our new space located at 141 N. 3rd Street, Philadelphia, PA, in the heart of the Old City Arts District;
- Honoring our donors with a continuing legacy at the Center's new space which includes:
  - Naming Rights for spaces;
  - Naming Rights for custom designed furniture including a Stephen Hogbin reception desk, Brad Smith conference table and benches by artists John Dodd, Peter Harrison, and Mark Sfirri (see attached images);
- Recognition opportunities through support of the Center's move through the Movers and Shakers Program;
- Presenting the 16th Annual International Turning Exchange (ITE) including:
  - Open Studio Day on Saturday, July 16, 2011 from 10am to 4pm at the UArts wood shop;
  - ITE allTURNatives: Form & Spirit Exhibition opening on August 5, 2011 at the Philadelphia Art Alliance;
- Completing our newest publication 25/35 anniversary of the Center and preparing to open the accompany exhibition at the new space on October 7, 2011. Special events to be announced.

Save the dates and join us for these events.
